

January, 2002

To Whom It May Concern:

As an Occupational Therapist working with special needs children, I have used the Travelbud system on many occasions. My clinical practice specializes in working with children with feeding difficulties. When assessing a child, positioning during the feed is of utmost importance. Using the Travelbud system, I have successfully positioned many children in their highchairs for more effective eating patterns. Although feeding difficulties are often complicated and multi-faceted, it is amazing the effect that proper positioning can have in contributing to a successful outcome.

The Travelbud system is easy to use and highly effective. I wholeheartedly recommend this product to therapists and parents alike!

Sincerely,

Carrie Hamelin, BSc.O.T.
Pediatric Occupational Therapist